In week two of our tree study, we have been discussing trees and our five senses. We tasted apples and oranges picked from trees, we felt tree parts, listened to trees, looked up at trees and smelled parts of trees. We learned that the rings in a tree indicate how old the tree is. We also started learning about deciduous and evergreen trees and how they are different. We read Trees Count, Chicka Chicka Boom Boom and Abiyoyo. Abiyoyo, is a South African folk tale about a giant that is as big as a tree.

In small groups, we did a lot of fun work with shapes, made Chick Chick Boom Boom Trees with the letters of our name and made patterns with leaves. We have also been working very hard to get ready for our Thanksgiving feast.

Our Veterans' breakfast was very special. We sang to our guests then presented them with cards. It was an honor to welcome our head custodian, Retired E-4 Specialist Leonard Barnes, US Army; Dylan's mom, Sarah Maxey and his dad, Sergeant First Class Jordan Maxey, US Army, also known as Trooper Maxey, of the Florida Highway Patrol; Alex's mom, Brandi Garrett and his dad, Retired AT3 Gregory Garrett, Jr, US Navy, who joined us via facetime; and Myles' mom Retired Sergeant Natorya Lacey, US Air Force. We missed Rory's mom, Stephanie and his dad, Retired Staff Sergeant Luke Murphy, US Army; Myles' grandfather, Retired Master Sergeant Anthony McKenzie, US Air Force and our school guardian, Retired Sergeant Karamuzi Justice, US Army. We are so grateful to all of you for your sacrifices and service to our country.
