

Pre-K Post

February 14, 2025

We have had a fun week celebrating Valentine's Day and Black History Month. Next week we will begin a new study, Tubes and Tunnels.

Our new letters this week were Ii and Nn. We glued iguanas and ice cream on the letter Ii and narwhals on Nn. In Rebound and Recovery, we talked about support systems, and what people and things in our lives are part of that system of support. We also shared ways we can show love and what makes a good friend.

In small groups we completed a roll and color number identification game; sorted, counted and graphed Valentine Hersey Kisses; completed a Valentine My Big World activity; played a Valentine board game to practice our counting and taking turn skills; and we counted, sorted, graphed and made patterns with conversation hearts.

In celebration of Black History month, we learned about President Barack Obama, Rosa Parks and Jackie Robinson. We also read the book, As Fast as Words Could Fly.

In read aloud, we read Happy Valentine's Day, Mouse, Peppa's Valentine's Day, Love is All Around the World and There Was an Old Lady That Swallowed a Rose.

During art time, we decorated our Valentine bags and made Valentine cards for our parents.

Our Valentine celebration was very fun. Thank you to all the parents that provided our juice boxes, snacks, treats and paper products. Thank you also for thinking of Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Owen and me with sweet treats and gifts.

Sharing for next week: please have your child find something at home that is a tube or tunnel and have them bring it to school next week. Ideas include straws, toilet or paper towel tubes, wrapping paper tubes, Pringles cans, toothpaste tubes, pool noodles, concrete forms.....whatever they can find and are willing to share with friends.

A concrete form. These can be found at Home Depot or Lowes.
